The science is very clear that wireless radiation can cause cancer neurological effects, immune system disorders and reproductive/infertility harm. The human evidence is even more clear as innocent men, women and children suffer from wireless radiation health effects from all sources, cell phones, Wi-Fi, smart meters, cell towers etc. These small cell transmitters emitting ultra high frequency wireless radiation continuously and so close to the home will be even more harmful and bring innocent residents to the point of disease and symptomology even faster than previous wireless radiation. The fact that the FCC continues to ignore the scientific evidence, the human suffering and insists on pushing this technology onto citizens while stripping them from any ability to protect themselves is truly criminal. I pray for the day that the FCC, its commissioners and the wireless industry that controls its commissioners are held responsible and accountable for the harm they have done to the American people. See attached additional evidence that wireless radiation is harmful.
